LONDON, Feb. 19 .- It is freely stated that the Irish local government bill, as pre-sented in the commons last evening, is the sented in the commons last evening, is the result of many stormy meetings of the cabinet, and that Mr. Belfour was more than once overruled. Even the Standard admits this, by saying that the hill is the result of a compromise, and that its reception, as in the case of all compromises, has not been as satisfactory as its promoters could desire. While its reception last evening by the opposition and today by the press was the most hostile ever given to a bill, yet there are now signs that a reaction is setting in. The bill, in brief, gives the rate payers in the Irlsh counties and baronies full power to manage their own affairs. The franchise is the same as it exists in England. The Irish councils, it exists in England. The Irish councils, in some respects, are given more extensive functions than those possessed by similar bodies in Great Britain, and while England bodies in Oreal Israelland water England is waiting for district councils, Ireland is offered baronial councils immediately.

As was expected, the criticism of the Irish and Liberal members turned chiefly on the checks and safeguards; but few exis riding for a fall, and that a dissolution of parliament will come when least ex-pected. The thin ice over which the gov-erament is skating was indicated by a vote in the commons tonight, when a resolution expressing regret at the appointment of a Welsh judge, ignorant of the Welsh language, was rejected by a majority of only 23. Deacon came from Boston, and has lived abroad for shout fifteen years, off and on. His wife is a daughter of the late Admiral Baldwin. In Boston, New York, Newport, Saratoga and other fashionable places in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Deacon moved in the very best circles. They seemed to have paid frequent visits to the United States, although they lived in Enrope, and last summer had a house at Newport, where they entertained handsomely. Both are very weating in their own right. Charles H. Baldwin, Mrs. Deacon's father, was born in New York City, Sept. 3, 1822. In the war with Mexico he served on the frighte Congress, and was in two engagements. He resigned from the service in 1854 after he had been made a lieutenant. He re-enlisted in 1861, and was actively engaged throughout the war. In 1865 and 1856 he was made fleet captain of the North Pacific squadron. His advance was steady to 1883, when he was raised to the rank of rear admiral, and assigned to the command of the Mediterranean squadron. In 1884 he was pinced on the retired list.

THE FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS. PARIS, Feb. 19.—The ministry was overthrown yesterday, and the ministers have presented their resignations to President Carnot. Church and state complications caused their downfall. The crisis, which was completely unforeseen when the chamber met, was brought about by a coalltion of the Radicals and members of the slicht. The division revealed a Radical alltion of the Radicals and members of the right. The division revealed a Radical strength of 191 votes, which will not suffice to continue a government majority Hence it is agreed on all sides that the formation of a new ministry will be a most difficult task. It is supposed that M. de Freycinet had not intended yesterday to press the consideration of the associations bill, which was designed to intimidate the bishops and to please the Radicals. M. Hubbard's demand for urgency, to rush the bill through the chamber without a second reading placed the premier in a dilemma. His acceptance of the motion would be tantamount to a direct attack on the church, and would therefore insure the bostility of the members of the right, while the refusal of urgency would convict the government of insincerity. The young man looked up sharply and then pretended not to hear.

"Oh, no," said the attendant. "Shell oysters are alive till they're broken. Them in that pail with their shells open isn't dead." Here he picked up a specimen and he tried the experiment on a gaping mollusk, which immediately closed. "Then," said the man who had first spoken. "they're all alive till you bust them open, and they can't die all at once?"

"No, I don't suppose so."
"Then a man who is eating raw oysters is eating 'em alive, isn't he?"
"Yes, I guess so."

"And they're alive even when he sticks a fork into them and they go inside? Living, mebbe, in his stomach, ch?" "Kind of funny they don't squirm more going down, isn't it?' Right here the young man, who had been munching the crackers in his bowl and
